Guatemala consigue sumar 3 puntos en casa frente a Belice Â¡Mira aquí! el resumen del partido! Â ... Curacao earns a huge win in San Pedro Sula against Honduras. Don't miss the Highlights! Â ... The 2022 CONCACAF Nations League culminated in a single city that hosted the final four matches, offering a compact showcase of North, Central American and Caribbean football. Forty-one nations competed across three leagues, with promotion and relegation shaping future cycles, while the tournament also doubled as a qualifier for the 2023 Gold Cup. The term "sede" designates the host city where the decisive knockout stage took place. By concentrating the climax in one venue, CONCACAF aimed to create a festival atmosphere, simplify logistics for fans, and generate media attention comparable to a mini "World Cup". This approach mirrors similar "final four" concepts used in other continental competitions. League A featured the region's strongest teams, while Leagues B and C gave emerging nations regular, meaningful matches rather than occasional friendlies. Promotion/relegation stakes forced every side to treat each fixture seriously, encouraging tactical growth and squad depth. Pros: Consistent competition reduces the "one-off" nature of sporadic friendlies. Trade-off: Smaller federations must travel farther and manage tighter schedules, potentially straining limited resources. Realistic expectation: Nations that finish atop League B can anticipate a tougher League A schedule in the next cycle, but the experience gained often outweighs short-term results.
